Vineyard Attitude

At the risk of sounding suggestive, we dare you to indulge in a little skinny dipping. That's right, we're asking you to experience the thrill of the naked grape in a glass of our lively Pinot Grigio. With nothing to hide behind, this gorgeous single-varietal wine bares all with bright fruit flavors and an exuberant acidity that makes you want to shout "yahoo!" and go streaking through the vines. Though we're technically breaking the rules of Ménage à Trois by giving all our love to just one grape, we think you'll agree that in this case, one sometimes is better than three. (Gasp! We're not becoming monogamous, are we?)

Vineyard and Winemaking

Want to get fresh? We thought so, which is why we let our winemakers run wild with our Pinot Grigio. Though technically not a blend of three, this wine is most definitely a Ménage à Trois in spirit and style. Erupting with zesty tropical fruit aromas and vivid fruit flavors balanced by mouth-watering acidity, this exhilarating wine is everything you could want and more. To preserve the fresh, bright fruit flavors and zippy aromas, winemakers cold-ferment the wine in stainless steel tanks, completely avoiding malolactic fermentation. We find all of this technical talk a little, well, stimulating. Perhaps it's time to sit back and enjoy a glass of our Pinot Grigio and simply let the wine do its thing.

Tasting Notes

Our Ménage à Trois Pinot Grigio is the perfect, all-purpose white. Fresh, fruit-forward and oh-so-drinkable, it's delicious on its own and wonderfully versatile with food. A wine for all seasons and reasons!
